LONDON, Oct. 23.—Britain today virtually confirmed that additional naval bases in the Pacific will be granted to the United States.

This revelation was made by authorities commenting on the prediction of Frank Knox, American secretary of the navy, that the United States would get more bases.

Knox informed a New York forum that "we have bases . . . but we need more. And we will have them. How far-flung they must be awaits the outcome of events now in the making."

Can Extend Agreement

British official circles would not shed any light on Knox's declaration except to remind that the agreement under which the United States received eight bases in the Atlantic in exchange for 50 destroyers can be extended to the Pacific.

Negotiations to that end are proceeding, it was stated.

Any American request for bases in the Pacific undoubtedly would be filled immediately, "in view of obvious American defensive requirements," British authorities emphasized.

Britain meanwhile continues to watch Japanese negotiations to procure oil from the Dutch East Indies. But no confirmation has been received of reports that Japan is threatening forcible measures against the Dutch.

Britain, it was reiterated, has no desire to cut off Japan completely from Dutch oil sources.

HARRISBURG, Oct. 23.—The campaign spotlight shone fiercely on pivotal Pennsylvania today as President Roosevelt carried his third term bid to Philadelphia and Wendell Willkie headed into the state on his second vote-getting drive.

President Roosevelt will inspect defense operations in the Philadelphia area and in a talk at Convention Hall try to win the state's 36 electoral votes.

Willkie, Republican candidate for president, was planning to make his second campaign appearance in Pennsylvania. He is due to be welcomed at Erie at noon tomorrow by U. S. Sen. James J. Davis and state party leaders.

During his visit in Erie, where he will be joined by G. O. P. National Committee members G. Mason Owlett and Mrs. Marjory W. Scranton, the candidate will deliver an address from the rear platform of his train.

A short time later he is scheduled to talk briefly from his train platform at Sharon.

President Roosevelt's address to-night will be the forerunner of five important talks he will make in several states before the election.

To party followers the visits of the two major candidates within as many days touched off the final drive for electoral support.

ABOARD WILLKIE
TRAIN, En Route New York, Oct. 23.—Punching

harder than he has at any time in his campaign, Wendell Willkie rolled along to New York from Chicago today prepared to challenge President Roosevelt, once again to justify his bid for a third term.

The Republican presidential candidate, openly exultant that the president has now decided to make political speeches, hurled challenge after challenge at "Mr. Third-Term Candidate" last night in his speech at Chicago stadium where an available seat and inch of standing room was taken.

Challenges President's Assertion

Willkie challenged the president's assertion that he will do all in his power to keep war from the shores of the United States.

"In the light of the record," he declared, "I challenge it. The third term candidate has not kept faith with the American people. How are we to know that he will begin to keep it now?"

Then he added:

"If his promise to keep our boys out of foreign wars is no better than his promise to balance the budget, they are already on the transports."

About One Draftee In Each 500 Registered To Be Called November 16

By RAYMOND WILCOVE

HARRISBURG, Oct. 23.—One draftee for each 500 men registered in a local area may be the quota established in Pennsylvania for the induction next month of the nation's first peace-time civilian army, it was estimated here today.

The estimate was tentative, based on a preliminary annual quota of 61,522 men set for Pennsylvania out of a national total of 800,000 men to be called up for service by June 15. Some adjustments may be necessary when more accurate registration figures become available.

At the state selective service headquarters it was explained that the official quota had not yet arrived, but when it did each local draft area would be required to provide a uniform number of men based proportionately on the number registered.

About 2300 In First Call

With 30,000 men scheduled to be drafted nationally in the first call on November 18, Pennsylvania's share would be approximately 2300 men or one in each 500 registered men. A total of 1,235,442 men between the ages of 21 and 36 registered in Pennsylvania, but this figure is subject to slight change when another invasion of the Bronx, political see of Democratic national chairman Edward J. Flynn, Willkie was to have the counsel of Alfred E. Smith, the 1928 Democratic presidential candidate and former governor of New York who was to come aboard the Willkie train at Harmon, N. Y., for lunch and to ride into the city with the candidate. Smith declared his support for Willkie in July.

WILLKIE HURLS NEW CHALLENGE ON THIRD TERM

To Speak In New York

In addition to a speech in the Bronx, Willkie also is speaking at Manhattan Center in downtown New York and at the annual Herald-Tribune Forum but shortly after midnight will be out of New York again on another expedition into Pennsylvania and Ohio.

The edge was somewhat taken off Willkie's enthusiastic Chicago reception when despite fine poloing, an egg thrower in La Salle street station succeeded in scoring on Miss Willkie. Another missile described variously as a frozen egg, a hard-boiled egg and as an apple, struck the candidate in the temple.

Mrs. Willkie's fur jacket and dress were spattered and she retired immediately but Willkie remained on the platform to say, with all seriousness that he appreciated the city's reception.

Crowd Is Aroused

City detectives plunging into the crowd picked up an unemployed stonemason engineer. The temper of the crowd was to take the suspect away from the police, but they hustled him off to the nearest precinct. Several fist fights followed the original disturbance.

The incident was the only unpleasant one of Willkie's return visit to the city ruled by Mayor Edward Kelly who in combination with Patrick Nash is always on the receiving end of the Republican candidate's attacks on Democratic machine.

Doors of the stadium opened at 6 p. m. and the huge hall was filled hours before the candidate arrived. Thousands of persons, unable to get inside, waited patiently for hours outside the building to see Willkie come and go.

Reads 1932 Platform

In his speech, Willkie read from the Democratic platform of 1932 with which he said he agreed at the time and still does and he read from time Roosevelt's statements.

Apparently on sudden inspiration, Willkie added after his first point:

"Mr. Third-Term Candidate, when you begin your political speeches tomorrow night, I would like to have you tell the people whether Wendell Willkie is falsifying the record."

The interpolation proved popular in the audience and Willkie tacked it on after each point with the result that after its third repetition Willkie had only to say "Mr. Third-Term Candidate" and audience would applaud.

His Third Term Draft

Willkie's speech to the Chicago audience was one of many parts. He scoffed at the theory of the third term draft, compared the promises of the New Deal to its performance, and once again blasted away at the Democratic political machines and particularly the Chicago Democratic organization.

For the daylight hours today, the candidate had nothing scheduled except his luncheon with Smith. Due early tonight at 138th street station in New York, Willkie was to speak first at Bronx Coliseum at 8 p. m., then at Manhattan Center and finally at the Herald-Tribune Forum in the Waldorf-Astoria at 10:30 p. m.

Leaving New York at 1 a. m., the candidate's train will travel into Pennsylvania where Willkie will speak at Erie and Sharon and at Warren and Akron, Ohio.

Before coming to New York, Willkie practiced law in Akron for several years.

Dollar Certificate Organization Formed

Mrs. H. L. Gormley Named As Chairman For Lawrence County Committee

Plans and organization for the Willkie-McNary Dollar Certificate Fund Campaign in Lawrence county are shaping up rapidly, according to Mrs. H. L. Gormley, chairman of this county. The quota for this county has been set at $2557 and Mrs. Gormley is confident that it can be reached.

The "Dollar Certificate" plan is national in scope and in Pennsylvania is being led by Miss Dorothy James, daughter of Governor Arthur H. James. The purpose of the campaign is two fold, first to get voters to the polls in support of the Republican ticket and secondly to raise funds for the support of the campaign.

The Dollar Certificate campaign is the chief election activity among the Republican Women of Pennsylvania who are sponsoring the idea.

Each contribution of a dollar enrolls the donor as a member of the organization. Members claim that the certificate itself will be valued in coming years because it was a part of the campaign that elected a Republican president.

FRENCH COUNCIL HEARS REPORT OF HITLER DEMANDS

vailed in government quarters and throughout Vichy as the ministers met.

French Fleet Missing

The meeting followed reports that the French Mediterranean fleet was missing at Toulon.

Navy officials, however, refused to disclose the significance of the fleet's action.

Earlier in the day Foreign Minister Paul Baudouin had asserted France had no intention of declaring war on England.

Baudouin also emphasized that "nothing will lead France to declare war on England."

After a long period of silence on the question, radio stations in unoccupied France this morning broadcast news of the meeting, which took place yesterday in the German-occupied section of France.

Deny Reports

But official circles issued strong denials of reports emanating from British sources that the negotiations are aimed at driving France into conflict against Great Britain.

They said that the negotiations nevertheless represent the beginning of a new relationship between France and Germany because:

—Laval for the first time met with the "most important Germans" —Hitler and Von Ribbentrop.

—The conversations were initiated by the Reich, not by France.

It was pointed out that up to the present the Germans have appeared rather uninterested in their relations with France. This was explained as the result of German preoccupation with the offensive against Britain.

The new attitude of the Reich was attributed, in part at least, to a shift in German military attention.

Offer To France

Berlin, Oct. 23.—An axis offer to France to join now in the "new order" in Europe, lending political and moral if not immediate military support in the fight to defend the British empire, was seen here to be the purpose behind the Hitler-Laval meeting in France.

(Editor's Note: Reports now indicate the meeting took place in or near Paris.)

Hitler was believed to have offered Laval a generous and just peace for France and the promise of a hopeful future as an important member of the axis bloc in Europe if the French government would throw its lot with the axis now.

This proposal, it was indicated, does not call for any French declaration of war against Britain nor does it necessarily envisage any immediate military or naval action on the part of France against Britain.

See French Cooperation

Rome, Oct. 23.—Authoritative Italian quarters today envisaged possible French military cooperation with the axis powers as a result of the meeting between French Vice Premier Pierre Laval and Chancellor Hitler.

But it was stated that such cooperation would not necessarily be directed against Britain.

"The Hitler-Laval talk enters into the framework of the axis reorganization of Europe," one authoritative source commented.

"Many French problems will be solved before a separate peace is arranged, after which direct military cooperation will be possible."

Informers circles anticipated that the French-German negotiations will coincide with intense diplomatic activity in Rome.

French Leaves

London, Oct. 23.—Spanish Generalissimo Francisco Franco has left Madrid for San Sebastian, apparently en route to a meeting with Chancellor Hitler, according to unconfirmed reports received in London today.

While no verification of these advices could be obtained, they were in line with the reported activities of Heinrich Himmler, chief of the Nazi Gestapo (secret police), during his recent visit to Spain.

Police Seek Missing Shippensburg Man

Bank Teller Is Object Of Hunt

Sought In Investigation Of Death Of Aged Man In Shippensburg

PROBE REVEALS VICTIM SLAIN

(International News Service)

SHIPPENSBURG, Pa., Oct. 23.—Pennsylvania motor police today threw out a dragnet for the apprehension of Calvin E. Rebok, a Shippensburg bank teller, suspected of the murder of 70-year-old Harry J. Hoover.

While police teletypes throughout the state pounded out a description of the 45-year-old suspect, details of the brutal slaying slowly came to light.

Victim Found

The aged victim was found Monday night lying on the floor of his kitchen, his body severely battered and his seven-room house ransacked. E. A. Haeggele, Cumberland county coroner, said the murder occurred some time Friday evening.

The eccentric Hoover—Shippensburg's first murder victim in 38 years—died as result of a bullet wound and not from hammer blows as first suspected. An autopsy disclosed a small copper slug from a .32 calibre revolver imbedded in the man's crushed skull.

Attention was turned upon the missing bank teller when authorities, upon examining the victim's safety deposit box, discovered evidence of a $1500 mortgage loan from Hoover to Rebok which was supposed to clear the bank on Friday, the day of the murder.

Further evidence pointed at Rebok, state police charge, when a .32 calibre revolver was discovered at the bank, one shell missing. In addition, business establishments in Shippensburg disclosed receiving new $20 bills in payment of Rebok's accounts, mailed from Chambersburg about noon Saturday, the day following Hoover's death.

another invasion of the Bronx, political seat of Democratic national chairman Edward J. Flynn. Willkie was to have the counsel of Alfred E. Smith, the 1928 Democratic presidential candidate and former governor of New York who was to come aboard the Willkie train at Harmon, N. Y., for lunch and to ride into the city with the candidate. Smith declared his support for Willkie.

To Speak In New York

In addition to a speech in the Bronx, Willkie also is speaking at Manhattan Center in downtown New York and at the annual Herald-Tribune Forum but shortly after midnight will be out of New York again on another expedition into Pennsylvania and Ohio.

The edge was somewhat taken off Willkie's enthusiastic Chicago reception when despite fine policing, an egg thrower in La Salle street station succeeded in scoring on Mrs. Willkie. Another missile described variously as a frozen egg, a hard-boiled egg and as an apple, struck the candidate in the temple.

Mrs. Willkie's fur jacket and dress were spattered and she retired immediately but Willkie remained on the platform to say, with all seriousness that he appreciated the city's reception.

Crowd Is Aroused

City detectives plumping into the crowd picked up an unemployed stationary engineer. The temper of the crowd was to take the suspect away from the police, but they hustled him off to the nearest precinct.

Several fist fights followed the original disturbance.

The incident was the only unpleasant one of Willkie's return visit to the city ruled by Mayor Edward Kelly who in combination with Patrick Nash is always on the receiving end of the Republican candidate's attacks on Democratic machine.

Doors of the stadium opened at 6 p. m. and the huge hall was filled hours before the candidate arrived. Thousands of persons, unable to get inside, waited patiently for hours outside the building to see Willkie come and go.

Reads 1932 Platform

In his speech, Willkie read from the Democratic platform of 1932 with which he said he agreed at the time and still does and he read from President Roosevelt's statements.

Apparently on sudden inspiration, Willkie added after his first point:

"Mr. Third-Term Candidate, when you begin your political speeches tomorrow night, I would like to have you tell the people whether Wendell Willkie is falsifying the record."

The interpolation proved popular in the audience and Willkie tacked it on after each point with the result that after its third repetition Willkie had only to say "Mr. Third-Term Candidate" and audience would applaud.

Hits Third Term Draft

Willkie's speech to the Chicago audience was one of many parts. He scoffed at the theory of the third term draft, compared the promises of the New Deal to its performance, and once again blasted away at the Democratic political machine and particularly the Chicago Democratic organization.

For the daylight hours today, the candidate had nothing scheduled except his luncheon with Smith.

Due early tonight at 138th street station in New York, Willkie was to speak first at Bronx Coliseum at 8 p. m., then at Manhattan Center and finally at the Herald-Tribune Forum in the Waldorf-Astoria.

Leaving New York at 1 a. m., the candidate's train will travel into Pennsylvania where Willkie will speak at Erie and Sharon and at Warren and Akron, Ohio.

Before coming to New York, Willkie practiced law in Akron for several years.

Dollar Certificate Organization Formed

Mrs. H. L. Gormley Named As Chairman For Lawrence County Committee

Plans and organization for the Willkie-McNary Dollar Certificate Fund Campaign in Lawrence county are shaping up rapidly, according to Mrs. H. L. Gormley, chairman of this county. The quota for this county has been set at $2557 and Mrs. Gormley is confident that it can be reached.

The "Dollar Certificate" plan is national in scope and in Pennsylvania is headed by Miss Dorothy James, daughter of Governor Arthur H. James. The purpose of the campaign is two fold, first to get voters to the polls in support of the Republican ticket and secondly to raise funds for the support of the campaign.

The Dollar Certificate campaign is the chief election activity among the Republican Women of Pennsylvania who are sponsoring the idea.

Each contribution of a dollar enrolls the donor as a member of the organization. Members claim that the certificate itself will be valued in coming years because it was a part of the campaign that elected a Republican president.

French Fleet Massing

The meeting followed reports that the French Mediterranean fleet was massing at Toulon.

Navy officials, however, refused to disclose the significance of the fleet's action.

Earlier in the day Foreign Minister Paul Baudouin had asserted France had no intention of declaring war on England.

Baudouin also emphasized that "nothing will lead France to declare war on England."

After a long period of silence on the question, radio stations in unoccupied France this morning broadcast news of the meeting, which took place yesterday in the German-occupied section of France.

Deny Reports

But official circles issued strong denials of reports emanating from British sources that the negotiations are aimed at driving France into conflict against Great Britain.

They said that the negotiations nevertheless represent the beginning of a new relationship between France and Germany because:

Franco Leaves

London, Oct. 23.—Spanish Generalissimo Francisco Franco has left Madrid for San Sebastian, apparently en route to a meeting with French Vice Premier Pierre Laval and Chancellor Hitler.

But it was stated that such cooperation would not necessarily be directed against Britain.

The Hitler-Laval talk enters into the framework of the axis reorganization of Europe," one authoritative source commented.

Many French problems will be solved before a separate peace is arranged, after which direct military cooperation will be possible.

Informers circles anticipated that the French-German negotiations will coincide with intense diplomatic activity in Rome.

AFTER THE NUMBERS ARE DRAWN

TAKING place in the midst of war, the first drawing of numbers in the World War draft of 1917 was a solemn historic event. Yet, in a sense, it was somewhat less important in the draft itself than the master drawing scheduled to begin next Tuesday in Washington, when Secretary of War Stimson will extract the first number from a goldfish bowl.

The precedence on the draft lists established by the 1917 lottery was, as it turned out, comparatively unimportant. Those at the bottom of the list who later qualified for service were only a few months behind the leaders in going to camp.

But in this first peacetime draft to raise an American Army, the precedence established at Washington by the master drawing will likewise serve as a preliminary system of selection. Out of the 17,000,000 or thereabouts registered a considerable number, for appropriate reasons, will be exempted. But even some of those placed in the first class may not be needed to meet the annual calls for draftees over the next five years, the Philadelphia Inquirer believes.

At any rate, the likelihood of an early call will diminish the farther down the list a man's name appears as a result of this drawing. This will be the case unless war or graver danger of war than now exists make a still larger Army necessary.

It is the sincere wish of the American people, with all their grim determination to go through with this thing to the end, that no such increase will ever be necessary and that neither No. 1 nor No. 5000 in next Tuesday's drawing will ever "hear a gun fired in anger" as the late General Smedley Butler used to say.

DEMOCRATIC ARMY

The United States War Department is warning its officers, in the new Army now being created, against snobbery. That is, the officers are not to go out of their way to make the men under them feel like menials. Formerly officers were warned not to be familiar with their men because it was bad for discipline. That explained much of the pompous stuffed shirt attitude on the part of many shavetails who in civilian life were inferior to the men under them.

Modern war is changing that. An army must perform be far more democratic without relaxing discipline. An officer and his men can not share the cramped quarters of a bombing plane, a tank or some other mechanized implement of war with the officer still retaining his pomposities. Even the Prussian system of Germany, after which America copied its military discipline, is reported to have been relaxed.

The United States began narrowing the gap between officers and men ten years ago. Among other things the army command has reduced disciplinary confinements where such punishments can be avoided. A decade ago twenty-eight enlisted men per thousand were court-martialed. Last year only eight men per thousand were haled into army courts by their officers, the lowest rate on record.

HUGE WHEAT SUPPLY

Canada is studying plans for the construction of two huge elevators with a capacity of 50,000,000 bushels of wheat each. An additional 150,000,000 bushels of extra storage space may be provided in the form of steel bins such as the United States government is using to store loan corn. Forty million bushels of wheat storage facilities is now under construction in the Dominion.

Canada faces a difficult storage problem. The 1940 Canadian crop and carry-over aggregate 862,000,000 bushels, a tremendous quantity of grain for a country with a population of 12,000,000. Subtracting all the wheat Britain can take, it is believed Canada will have about 575,000,000 bushels on hand when the 1941 harvest approaches.

In view of this gigantic surplus there is some talk in the Dominion of a 50 per cent acreage curtailment of the crop to be planted next spring. There may be some curtailment, but probably not that much. It is part of British war policy to have tremendous stores of food available to hold before the hungry people of totalitarian lands in an effort to dampen their war enthusiasm.

Britain has been getting control of surpluses wherever it could. Canada is by far Britain's greatest reservoir of food. And Britain will hardly want to risk lowering the level of that reservoir through drastic acreage curtailment.

SPEAKING THE TRUTH

In all the welter of words regarding war and rumors of war, with people speculating on what is happening in Indo-China and Rumania, and with billions more being spent in America in the name of defense, there still remain statesmen in our government with the foresight and courage to thrust politics aside, even in the midst of the campaign, and tell the people the truth. One of these is Senator Adams of Colorado, who is never afraid to speak his mind.

Recently Senator Adams told the Senate that the country faces bankruptcy unless the present spending policy of the national government is curbed. Since the first of January, declared Senator Adams, who is a member of the Senate Appropriations Committee, Congress has rolled up an expenditure of more than twenty-six and a half billion dollars. He declared that he made an allowance for "necessary defense items" but said that regardless of the necessity for expenditure "we face a very threatening condition."

The Colorado statesman declared that "the country's welfare is seriously threatened by bankruptcy unless we reduce our spending by confining outlays to the very essentials" and he added that some of the appropriations made "had little bearing on our state of preparedness."

Senate and House tabulators estimated that, since January 1, Congress has appropriated and approved contract authorizations totaling $18,500,000 for national defense.

Most of the huge defense appropriation was allocated for equipping an estimated army of 1,200,000 men, the purchase of thousands of army and navy fighting planes, the training of the National Guard and those brought under the military conscription program. Also for construction of a two-ocean navy.

Here are some things worth thinking about. While preparing to repel an enemy from abroad let us not destroy the country from within by rending our economic fabric. Isn't it about time to put a business man in charge, one who knows the value of money and what it means to the taxpayers to have to produce it?

TIME-TEACHING IS CRITICIZED

I must have been about twelve years old when in the Old Forge School (country school) in Little Cove, Warren Township, Franklin County, Pa., we had verbal (reading) problems in arithmetic. The teacher dictated them from a book and we were supposed to solve them on the board. Three of us in the class—Almeta Sosey, Charley Atkinson and I, Charley and I waited until "Meta" began so we might know whether to add, subtract, multiply or divide. "Meta" seemed always to know. She was a whiz at arithmetic and spelling. She was a few years older than Charley and I and I always thought her very pretty. Some years earlier I used to have to go sit beside her for punishment. But as I grew older this was no longer punishment! Today she is married and has a lovely family of her own now and some gray hairs and that's more than I have of any shade.

It was years before I gained any confidence at solving verbal problems. I made progress when we used the book and had the problems right before our eyes, with lots of time to read and study it carefully. But when we used to try to carry the whole thing in our little heads I felt confused.

Down With Dictation

Fewer teachers now than then dictate verbal problems in arithmetic, but too many still do. Down with dictation! What is worse than dictation of verbal arithmetic problems is having youngsters work such problems from a printed or mimeographed page against the watch. Pressed for time, the hurried child short-cuts, takes a chance and gambles on the answer. Instead of reading the whole problem carefully and taking enough time to ascertain what it means he will look hurriedly from one number to another and guess whether it is an add, subtract, or multiplying problem. Often in this column I have condemned stop-watch drills in adding, subtracting and the like of "bare" numbers. Still more to be condemned is doing of verbal problems against the watch.

Parents May Help

Your child might be highly accurate in adding, subtracting, multiplying or dividing. Even then, he may, in attacking a verbal problem, have trouble knowing which process to employ.

Have you watched a child play with numbers before going to school? Have you ever seen him adding when he should subtract or vice-versa? Or dividing when he should multiply? You have not. He doesn't have such confusions until after he enters school. At leisure in play, he senses the real situation. Under pressure at school, he does not often have a real situation, nor does he have time and motive to use his imagination.

Now you can help him with verbal problems by inducing him to take plenty of time, by creating a calm and serene atmosphere for him, by leading him to read the problem slowly and carefully. You also can make up interesting verbal problems for him from vivid experiences of his and from facts in the newspaper!

If you would like to secure some self-teaching materials in arithmetic designed to help your child learn the basic number facts accurately and succeed at verbal problems, write me at 235 East 45th street, New York City, enclosing a self-addressed envelope with a three-cent stamp on it and let me tell you how and where such may be obtained. Also you may have a sheet of the 100 addition facts and another of the 100 subtraction facts.

Now is your chance to help by your vote, and Pray GOD to SAVE AMERICA.

Questions And Answers

Q. Do you think parents ever should conspire to make dates for their sons and daughters?

A. Yes; they often should, especially for the daughter. Such cooperation by the parents has great possibilities but requires enormous tact and social skill. Parents do most good in this direction whose most effective efforts are least apparent to the youths concerned.

Q. After spanking a child of three or four, should he also have to sit in a chair or stay indoors as additional punishment for the same offense?

A. No; employ one form of punishment for an offensive. End it there and never bring the matter up again. In case the same offense is repeated, repeat the same punishment. With no apparent results after several such procedures, lengthen or intensify the punishment. The certainty of punishment is more powerful than its intensity, as a rule.

Q. If my youngster, serving sentence as punishment, sitting in a chair, asks me a question, or desires to talk to me on matters unrelated to his offense or punishment, what should I do?

A. Answer him, or converse with him as calmly and naturally as if nothing irregular had occurred. Merely let him serve his time.

Suez Grab Will Prove Difficult
Axis Will Have Hands Full Belief
Naval Experts Express Their Doubts

By CHARLES P. STEWART

men in Washington are more than doubtful of the Axis' ability to gain control of the Suez canal by way of the eastern end of the Mediterranean. All their information indicates that British war craft dominate that sea very effectively. The Italians claim a few successes against John Bull's fleet, but our experts don't believe them. From the accounts they get, their impression is that Signor Mussolini is bottled up pretty tightly, so far as the surface of the water is concerned. That he has a good air force is recognized, but it's reasoned that it must be insufficient to offset his enemy's maritime superiority or it would have done so already. And Germany doesn't shun at all in the Mediterranean. It has planes, to be sure, but they're overly busy elsewhere.

There are, indeed, alternative routes from Axis soil Suezward, one of them entirely overland—across the Balkans and southern Russia, between the Black and Caspian seas, over the Caucasus mountains and then through Turkey and Syria. But that's an impossible distance. Moreover, Russia most probably would object, and Turkey most certainly.

Or the Axis forces might traverse the Balkans to the Black sea, thence by water to the northern Turkish coast.

Or, again, they might trek through the Balkans to the Bosphorus, the Mediterranean's sub-set of Marmar or the Dardanelles and ferry themselves over to Turkey.

Russia A. Tharn

The Axis gang probably could navigate the Black sea without any British interference, though it's not unlikely that Comrade Stalin would object, despite his extremely loose tie-up with Hitler and Benito Mussolini.

"I guess I did," said the boy.

"Now, supposing you had your wish, what would be the first thing you'd do?"

"I'd guess it would be to get you out of the poorhouse," said the youth, quickly.

The wealthy man promptly promoted the youngster.

We often read about 10,000 ton battleships. We wonder if they weigh that much or hold that amount of water.

However, the little Balkan countries are first to be reckoned with. Hitler and Mussolini have some of them already actually occupied or intimidated. Others, though, like Yugoslavia and Greece act scrappy. Still, it's no safe bet that they, too, can't be bulldozed—provided they don't get backing from Russia. That they won't get it is no safe bet, either.

But, finally, how about Turkey?

The Turks behave as viciously as Axis as so many fighting cocks.

The Balkan peoples can scrap formidably among themselves, but they're unequal to wage up-to-date warfare and they know it; they can be scared. The Russians, also good scrappers, are incompletely led. If unaided by a western war, the Germans presumably could lick 'em.

The Turks, though? Those birds have been underestimated. They've been misrepresented likewise. They are nice folk normally. I visited 'em while they were having their revolution, which overthrew Abdul Hamid. Louis Einstein, a superbly distinguished career diplomat, was the first secretary of our embassy in Constantinople (now Istanbul). A mild kind of anarchism reigned. There wasn't any government. Yet there wasn't any disorder. I asked Louis how he accounted for the respectability of everything. "It's due," he said, "to the natural peaceful nature of the Turks." And he knew the country.

Tough When Aroused

But "beware the fury of a patient man." When those Turks take the warpath, they're a sure-enough handful. In the last war they were on Germany's side, the British tried

HINTS AND DINTS

Sun sets tonight 5:09; sun rises tomorrow 6:20.

The New Deal talks about Mr. Willkie being of German descent. The name Roosevelt evidently has undergone some change and it sounds more German than Willkie.

The United States is in a war-class war. That kind of a war can also do a lot of damage to all the people.

A speaker was introduced. He began this way: "Ladies and gentlemen, before I begin my address there is something I would like to say to you."

GOOD SAVE AMERICA

The politicians evidently have come to their last extremity, when they stoop so low and are so void of decency, as to try to defame the character of one, whose character and life is above reproach. Who is trying to tell us where we are heading for and the results. It is time the church members and all the people that love our nation, and wants to see the corrupt politicians barred from holding positions of trust in it, should forget party and all the other things.

It is claimed that voters are swayed more by prejudice and emotion than by reason. Often it seems some queer things sway them.

What do you think of the new preacher?" a colored man was asked after he had listened to the new spellbinder.

"Man, he am some preacher," was the reply. "In that prayer ob his he done asked the Lord for things he didn't even know he had."

Now is your chance to help by your vote, and Pray GOD to SAVE AMERICA.

UNCLE PETE

In Oil City they have a law being enforced that compels people to keep tree branches eight feet from the sidewalks. Us sixfooters would like a law like that be enforced in New Castle.

It is claimed that voters are swayed more by prejudice and emotion than by reason. Often it seems some queer things sway them.

better managed and the chances of our getting into war lessened.

IN any event, it now has become clear that, far from being over, this election is so uncertain that no one with any regard for his reputation cares about risking a prophecy and only the political publicity departments are making claims. In brief, this is one of those elections in which no one can tell what is going to happen. It may go heavily in one direction or the other; and it may be very close indeed. Realization of this has come to the third-termers in the last week and their supreme confidence has been supplanted by a rather jittery frame of mind.

IN the past week there have been two manifestations of this. One is the disposition among the third-term managers to criticize their own chairman, Mr. Flynn. They think, for example, that Mr. Flynn has lost his balance; that he is responsible for the reaction against the President caused by the smearing Willkie pamphlets emanating from headquarters; that his press releases and statements have lacked dignity and been wholly ineffective. In particular, they think his silly attack on the newspapers was a mistake. It was, they say, an indication of weakness of which his predecessor never would have been guilty.

THE other manifestation is the renewal of pressure upon Mr. James A. Farley for help. Last August the White House group was not only calling Mr. Farley's retirement a fortunate thing but insisting that Mr. Flynn ought to throw out all Mr. Farley's friends. Now they are pleading with Mr. Farley for help. Pressure of an amazingly personal kind is being put on him to make a speech declaring that he still regards Mr. Roosevelt with admiration and affection. Perhaps Mr. Farley will yield to this, but those who know him best think not. They know that he lost his admiration, affection and respect for Mr. Roosevelt long time ago and are quite sure he is not going to say he has any. Mr. Farley will say that he intends to vote the Democratic ticket on November 5. He is Democratic State chairman of New York and, of course, will "support the ticket." But if he says more than that there will be great surprise among his friends.

MR. Farley has a great many reasons for not doing anything beyond preserving his party regularity in this fight, but the main reason is his sense of self-respect and his reputation as a man of character. Like Senator Carter Glass, like a good many others, "supporting the ticket" does not modify his opposition to the third term or dilute his belief, expressed many months ago to the President himself, that it is not in the national interests.

This time they're committed to the democratic defense of Suez, and they number 1,000,000 bayonets.

Oh, yes, Hitler and Mussolini, left to themselves, no doubt can wallop Russia or Turkey, either one of them. Our military critics, though, say it's no 100 per cent gamble that they can wallop the Turks alone, at such long range, with Britain chewing at 'em from the opposite direction.

Hence, the experts' guess that Suez will be no easy grab for the totalitarians.

Gibraltar, at the Mediterranean's western end, is different. The Fascists and Nazis, with France conquered and the Spanish in no fix to do any resisting (even if they want to) can jump on Gibraltar from its landward side, perhaps getting it.

That, if it happens, will be a British calamity.

As for Suez, the average expert surmise is that the Turks will hang onto it as long as the British are able to hold out elsewhere.

Draftees Will Be Prepared For Camp By Legion

Edward D. Pritchard Named Chairman of Home Defense Group To Give Training

ELIGIBLE MEN CAN REGISTER AT ONCE

As a part of the Home Defense plans of the American Legion, Perry S. Gaston Post will take an active part in preparing local draftees for the camp life that is ahead of them.

Edward D. Pritchard, former sheriff and a sergeant with Headquarters Company, 332nd Infantry, A. E. F., has been named chairman of this important committee by Commander Walter G. Dietterle, and has called an organization meeting of this committee for Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock in his office.

The Pennsylvania Department of the American Legion has outlined a program for Home Defense, which includes the rendering of all assistance possible to the drafted men, and will include the benefit of the wide experience gained by these veterans of the World War.

It is not the aim of the American Legion to take over actual drilling, but the men will be taught the fundamentals of being a soldier, which will assist them materially after they get in camp.

In addition, local legionnaires who are doctors, will give the men talks on personal hygiene, and care of the body.

Col. Vincent A. Carroll is chairman of the Pennsylvania Department Committee on Home Defense, with Col. Lynn G. Adams, vice chairman, and they are mapping out a program which will in turn be submitted to the different posts in the state.

Draftees may enroll now for this training, which will likely be given in the Armory, and as soon as a large enough group has enrolled, actual instruction will get under way. Enrollment is being taken at the Legion Home.

Those named on the committee to assist him, have been named by Pritchard as follows: A. L. Conn, Capt. Harvey Blitrim, Mrs. McClelland, Earl C. Moffat, Paul Patterson, William G. Fleming, Charles E. Allen and Mrs. W. D. Cleland, H. G. Harper, F. E. Eakin, R. C. Lutz, Jay L. Reed, Hyman Frank, W. F. Jackson and J. R. Cooper.

Gaston Post, at its meeting last evening, voted to give a substantial contribution to the Community Chest.

Plans for Armistice Day are announced by Senior Vice Commander Clarence S. Jarrett, chairman. The Gaston Post will form at the Legion Home at 8 o'clock and march to the Diamond, where the annual memorial service will take place, after which they will reform and return to the Legion Home, leaving shortly afterwards with their band for Ellwood City, where they will take part in the annual Tri-County Armistice Day celebration.

Plans were also announced for Ladies Night, which will take place at the Cathedral, Monday evening, November 4, when Department Commander Charles Cook, Western Vice Commander Daniel Hartbauer and Department Auxiliary President Mrs. Arthur Beaver will be guests.

better managed and the chances of our getting into war lessened.

In any event, it now has become clear that, far from being over, this election is so uncertain that no one with any regard for his reputation cares about risking a prophecy and only the political publicity departments are making claims. In brief, this is one of those elections in which no one can tell what is going to happen. It may go heavily in one direction or the other, and it may be very close indeed. Renomination of this has come to the third-termers in the last week and their supreme confidence has been supplanted by a rather jittery frame of mind.

In the past week there have been two manifestations of this. One is the disposition among the third-term managers to criticize their own chairman, Mr. Flynn. They think, for example, that Mr. Flynn has lost his balance; that he is responsible for the reaction against the President caused by the smearing Willkie pamphlets emanating from headquarters; that his press releases and statements have lacked dignity and been wholly ineffective. In particular, they think his silly attack on the newspapers was a mistake. It was, they say, an indication of weakness of which his predecessor never would have been guilty.

THE other manifestation is the renewal of pressure upon Mr. James A. Farley for help. Last August the White House group was not only calling Mr. Farley's retirement a fortunate thing but insisting that Mr. Flynn ought to throw out all Mr. Farley's friends. Now they are blending with Mr. Farley for help. Pressure of an amazingly personal kind is being put on him to make a speech declaring that he still regards Mr. Roosevelt with admiration and affection. Perhaps Mr. Farley will yield to this, but those who know him best think not. They know that he lost his admiration, affection and respect for Mr. Roosevelt a long time ago and are quite sure he is not going to say he has any. Mr. Farley will say that he intends to vote the Democratic ticket on November 5. He is Democratic State chairman of New York and, of course, will "support the ticket." But if he says more than that there will be great surprise among his friends.

Mr. Farley has a great many reasons for not doing anything beyond preserving his party regularly in this fight, but the main reason is his sense of self-respect and his reputation as a man of character. Like Senator Carter Glass, like a good many others, "supporting the ticket" does not modify his opposition to the third term or dilute his belief, expressed many months ago to the President himself, that it is not in the national interest.

At one time persons who tried to commit suicide in England were punished by hanging, the government trying to discourage the taking of one's own life by making certain that what the would-be suicide was seeking—death—would be his lot.

Most murders arise from the stress of emotions of fear, anger, hatred, jealousy or greed, and by far the majority are due to disputes or quarrels about trifles, investigations prove.

Not long ago two young men were rivals for the heart and hand of a young lady. Later the two men met and both got drunker than a boiled owl—one because he didn't get her, the other because he did.

Armistice Day Plans Progress

Indications Point To Out-standing Celebration Here On November 11

BANDS AND FLOATS WILL BE FEATURE

One of the greatest Armistice Day celebrations that has ever been held in this city is indicated for November 11. General Chairman T. John Stoner, of Neshannock Post No. 315, Veterans of Foreign Wars, stated today, following the reports of the various committees at the meeting held in the Neshannock Post rooms.

The parade, which will take place during the morning hours preceding the Armistice hour at 11:01, will be featured by a large number of bands from the surrounding district, and by a beautiful array of floats.

It was reported that the Beaver County council of the V. F. W. will be present, 100 per cent, while several councils from Northwestern Pennsylvania will also have a large number of men in line, accompanied by their bands.

Last year's observance of Armistice Day, the first attempted here on a large scale in many years, was featured by a record turnout, which will be eclipsed manifold, Chairman Stoner states. Every day, new organizations are reporting they will take part in the parade, and with patriotic fervor at a high pitch because of present conditions, a celebration of huge proportions is expected.

How Draft Lottery October 29 Will Work

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—To clarify for potential conscripts the actual mechanics of the selective service lottery Oct. 29, a national draft official today explained the working of the draw in detail.

Here it is, as explained conversationally by the official:

"Let us suppose the first number drawn is 110. That would mean that registrant No. 110 at each of the 6,500 draft boards throughout the country is drafted. Say the second number is 4356—all the men who have that number are drafted, and so on, until the order in which all 17,000,000 men who registered will be called to service is established."

Letter Tells Of Bombing Raids In Great Britain

Written as bombs rained down on nearby districts, a letter has reached P. J. Flaherty, president of the Johnson Bronze Company, from Wilfred Brown, managing director of the Glacier Metal Company, Ltd., Alperton, Middlesex, England. Mr. Flaherty is a director of the company.

At the time he was writing the letter Mr. Brown was the "Control Officer" which means that it was his duty to turn out the fire or rescue squads in the event of a hit upon the plant.

On September 15 when the letter was written the plant had not yet been hit although bombs had dropped close by.

In order to speed up the manufacture of essential materials in the plant Mr. Brown states that all but about two percent of the employees volunteered to work during air raids and they do, gas mask and steel hat necessary.

It is an unusual letter, one that epitomizes the British stoicism in time of danger. He speaks of the windows rattling from artillery fire and bomb explosions but says "it is difficult to judge but I should very much doubt if anything as high as one building in 1,000 had been damaged."

Many workers refuse to take shelter during day raids Mr. Brown stated, their philosophy being "if my name is on it (a bomb) I'm for it, but I can't spend four or five hours a day in shelter."

One paragraph written in matter-of-fact fashion describes a tragedy in his family. He says "my wife's cousin is living with us now. She married three months ago and two weeks back her husband was flying a bomber over the coast line. He was attacked by Nazis and set on fire. He could have bailed out but that would have meant his plane and bombs landing on a town so he piloted the burning plane into the sea and died in it. He will probably get a decoration. Grand effort wasn't it?"

The letter is a gripping one not so much for what it says but for the restraint with which it is told.

Chain letters are not legally mailable if they appear on postal cards or on outside of mail, as they usually contain threats if the recipient does not forward them; they are mailable when sent in envelopes with postage prepaid, however.

Presbytery Meets In Second Church

Beaver Valley Group Has Business Meeting In Local Church Tuesday

Dr. J. C. Lorimer presented the program for a series of forums when members of Beaver Valley Presbytery assembled for an all day meeting on Tuesday in the Second United Presbyterian church of this city. Dr. D. L. Ferguson, pastor of Highland U. P. church, moderator, had charge of the meeting.

"Naturally, the drawing of a man's number near the top does not mean he will be placed in military service immediately. He will, though, be among the first to receive questionnaires. Whether he actually serves, or not—and when—will depend on the information he furnishes in the questionnaire regarding dependents, occupational indispensability, etc."

The forums are to be held in this Presbytery the last week of October and the first week of November by the Board of American Missions. It was announced that the forum for the New Castle district will be held in the Second U. P. church on November 4 at 8 p. m. This district includes the United Presbyterian churches of New Castle and surrounding countryside.

Rev. W. S. Bingham of Glenshaw, Pa., was a guest and as a representative of the Pocket Testament League, asked the cooperation of Presbytery in distributing editions of the new testament hoping that people will respond by giving more time to reading the Bible.

With reluctance, Presbytery accepted the resignation of Dr. C. D. Fulton, who has served as pastor of Beaver U. P. church for 27 years. Earl Craig from that church was present and spoke of the splendid work Dr. Fulton has done in Beaver church.

At noon, women of the Second U. P. church served dinner to approximately 60 guests.

Delegates were named to attend General Assembly which will be held next May in Indianapolis, Ind. Highland church is to have a lay delegate to General Assembly next spring.

Next regular meeting of Beaver Valley Presbytery will be held the fourth Tuesday of April, 1941, in the Ellwood City United Presbyterian church.

One paragraph written in matter-of-fact fashion describes a tragedy in his family. He says "my wife's cousin is living with us now. She married three months ago and two weeks back her husband was flying a bomber over the coast line. He was attacked by Nazis and set on fire. News Briefs

From City Hall

Notices were being distributed in Croton district today calling for a mass meeting relative to a rumor current the city proposes to abandon the Vine street department. The session has been called for 8 p. m., October 24, at the Croton school. In commenting upon the circular today one city official reiterated that so far, the city has not taken any official action toward abandoning the fire station. A fire engine, considered obsolete, was removed from the building and a fireman left on duty there. To have used the fire apparatus, the official asserted, would have been to hazard life.

James Stillwagon was in the city jail accused of taking an auto tire from a tire company at 38 South Jefferson street. He was arrested by Officer Budd Pfeffer last night on the South Side. Mayor Charles B. Mayne instructed the chief of police, W. G. McMullen, to charge Stillwagon with larceny.

Tomatoes were hurled against houses at 219 Hillcrest avenue, 302 Elizabeth street and 212 Hillcrest avenue last night. Such acts merit a fine and it would be fitting for Mayor Charles B. Mayne to impose fines for damage. There is no reason why any property-owner should be required to bow to such vandalism.

Glass in several meters were broken during the several nights past, police discovered. Vandalism is suspected.

(International News Service) HARRISBURG, Oct. 23.—Acting on recommendations of the state board of pardons, Gov. Arthur H. James today granted pardons to 11 persons convicted of various crimes under Pennsylvania law.

In addition to the pardons recommended to the governor, the board, which heard the appeals last month, commuted sentences of 15 persons, held six cases under advisement and continued 14 others. Cases continued included:

Lawrence county—Charles A. Llewellyn, first degree murder.

TEN PRESIDENTS OF THE UNITED STATES

George Washington: (on declining a third term) "It appears to me proper, especially as it may conduce to a more distinct expression of the public voice, that I should now apprise you of the resolution I have formed to decline being considered among the number of those out of whom a choice is to be made."

Jefferson, Madison and Monroe: has forever determined that no President shall be more than once re-elected. The principle is now become as sacred as if it were written in the Constitution."

Rutherford B. Hayes: "In furtherance of the reform we seek and in other important respects a change of great importance, I recommend an amendment to the Constitution prescribing a term of six years for the presidential office and forbidding a re-election."

William McKinley: "I will now say, once for all, expressing a long-settled conviction, that I not only am not and will not be a candidate for a third term, but I would be rejected on this demonstration of ambitious views."

Andrew Jackson: "It would seem advisable to limit the service of the Chief Magistrate to a single term of either four or six years. I cannot but believe that more is lost by the long continuance of men in office than is generally to be gained by their experience."

William Henry Harrison: "The Republicans could commit no greater error than to adopt or continue any feature in their systems of government which may be calculated to create or increase the love for power in the bosoms of those to whom necessity obliges them to commit the management of their affairs."

James Buchanan: "The example of Washington which has been followed by William H. Taft: "I am strongly inclined to the view that it would have been a wiser provision, as it was at one time voted, in the Convention, to make the term of the President six or seven years, and render him ineligible thereafter."

Woodrow Wilson: "It is the 'illicit powers' of the Presidents, not their legitimate influence with the country that the advocates of a Constitutional change (to limit the president's term) profess to be afraid of, and I heartily sympathize with them. It is intolerable that any President should be permitted to determine who should succeed him—himself or another—by patronage or coercion, or by any sort of control of the machinery by which delegates to the nominating convention are chosen."

Dr. Dafoe's Column
On The Quintuplets
And The Care
Of Your Children

(Copyright, 1940, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

A DAY WITH THE QINTS

We get a great many queries from all over this continent asking how the Dionne Quintuplets spend their time; what schedule they follow; if they do follow any rigid schedule; if they always have their meals at the same time, and all that sort of thing. Well, we are changing our schedule to suit the winter which will soon be with us. And so, I thought it might be a good time to talk about this new schedule.

When I first studied this schedule after the nurses and I had made it out, the first thing that struck me was that the Quins are still spending nearly fifteen hours out of the twenty-four in bed. A great many children suffer physically because they don't get regular rest. But not our Quins. We see that they get plenty of it.

Long ago, we realized that since children need to spend a lot of time in bed, we should make their beds as comfortable and as sanitary as possible. Comfortable, because if they are to spend so long in them and be happy about it, they must not be too hard, or lumpy. Sanitary, they must be, because if infection of any kind were allowed to linger around the mattresses or the bedding, we could never keep all five children well. So, our bedding is washed often and thoroughly, and our mattresses are aired and they are sanitized to keep them sterile.

The children go to bed at seven, and get up at seven-thirty in the morning. Of course, they don't always go right to sleep when they go to bed, so they get about twelve solid hours sleep. It is very seldome any of them needs to go to the bathroom during this twelve hour period, so the sleep is uninterrupted.

Then in the afternoon, right after dinner, the children go to bed for an afternoon nap. This lasts at least two hours, sometimes a few minutes longer. And the children really sleep during this period.

Twice more during the day, the children go to bed too. They lie down for fifteen minutes just before they eat supper. We have found these short rest periods of great benefit to the children's digestion and appetites. They play hard and vigorously, and if we let them come to the table straight from the play yard, they would be excited and nervous and not ready to eat. They wouldn't eat much and what they did swallow wouldn't do them much good.

The children don't always fall asleep during these rest periods, but they do remain absolutely quiet, and so the tension they have worked up playing is gradually eased, and the children become absolutely relaxed. During these pre-meal rest periods, we always play music on the phonograph for them. We started this years ago, and now the children demand it. Besides it helps greatly in getting them to relax. We find that music plays a very important part in the lives of these children.

State Teachers Retirement Board
Opposes Proposal

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, Oct. 23.—The State Teachers Retirement Board went on record Tuesday opposing unanimously, on behalf of 31,000 public school teachers in Pennsylvania, Sen. Robert F. Wagner's bill to extend social security in place of present pension systems to all public employees except those in federal service.

The action followed a meeting of the board in Harrisburg. The board directed Dr. H. H. Baish, secretary, to go to Washington to oppose the measure which is now before the senate's finance committee. Dr. Baish said:

"The board in unanimous action expressed itself as unalterably opposed to the Wagner bill, feeling that its passage would be not only burdensome to the 81,000 public school employees of Pennsylvania, but would work an actual hardship on many of them."

Plans Progressing For Geneva Party

Everything is in full swing for the Geneva Alumni hallowe'en party which will be given Tuesday evening, October 29, in the newly decorated recreation room of the Reformed Presbyterian church.

Sid Lockley, Mrs. James Hinsh, Arthur Brown and Elroy Lockley have made provision that there will not be one solemn moment throughout the evening, and John Riley and his committee composed of Mrs. Clarence Campbell, Milton Patterson, Oscar Riley and Mrs. Harry Wilson will fix a room as you've never seen before.

No party is complete without eats and this reporter was told that if you go home hungry you can come back for breakfast for there will be more than enough for all.

Those who are contacting the group are Reba Sines, Thomas Elliott, Dr. Homer Allen, Mary Elizabeth Wagner, Georgiana McNeese, Mary Perdue, Clarence Ruthrauff, Mrs. James Hinsh and Wilda Fullerton.

DAILY DOZEN

(From the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania)

The Selective Service will show the state of our health.

There are 422 local draft boards in Pennsylvania.

Boards will pass on registrants prior to physical examination.

Economic and matrimonial reasons will weed out many men.

Remaining registrants will be physically examined.

Local physicians will act for the local boards.

They will perform these examinations on a voluntary non-pay basis.

The medical profession is happy to contribute the service.

What part will the physician play in Selective Service mechanism?

His part is to examine, to find, evaluate and to recommend.

He will follow accepted standards of physical examination.

4,000,000 physical examinations will show how healthy our young men are.

Goat's milk is very nutritious and is in many cases recommended for sickly infants and persons suffering from tuberculosis and it is more easily digested than cow's milk.

A DAY WITH THE QUINTS
We get a great many questions from all over this continent asking how the Dionne Quintuplets spend their time; what schedule they follow; if they do follow any rigid schedule; if they always have their meals at the same time, and all that sort of thing. Well, we are changing our schedule to fit the winter, which will soon be with us. And so, I thought it might be a good time to talk about this new schedule.

When I first studied this schedule after the nurses and I had made it out, the first thing that struck me was that the Quins are still spending nearly fifteen hours out of the twenty-four in bed. A great many children suffer physically because they don't get regular rest. But not our Quins. We see that they get plenty of it.

Long ago, we realized that since children need to spend a lot of time in bed, we should make their beds as comfortable and as sanitary as possible. Comfortable, because if they are to sleep so long in them and be happy about it, they must not be too hard, or lumpy. Sanitary, they must be, because if infection of any kind were allowed to linger around the mattresses or the bedding, we could never keep all five children well. So, our bedding is washed often and thoroughly, and our mattresses are aired and they are sanitized to keep them sterile.

The children go to bed at seven, and get up at seven-thirty in the morning. Of course, they don't always go right to sleep when they go to bed, so they get about twelve solid hours sleep. It is very seldon any of them needs to go to the bathroom during this twelve-hour period, so the sleep is uninterrupted.

Then in the afternoon, right after dinner, the children go to bed for an afternoon nap. This lasts at least two hours, sometimes a few minutes longer. And the children really sleep during this period.

Twice more during the day, the children go to bed too. They lie down for fifteen minutes just before their dinner, or midday meal, and another quarter hour just before they eat supper. We have found these short rest periods of great benefit to the children's digestion and appetites. They play hard and vigorously, and if we let them come to the table straight from the play yard, they would be exhausted and nervous and not ready to eat. They wouldn't eat much and what they did swallow wouldn't do them much good.

The children don't always fall asleep during these rest periods, but they do remain absolutely quiet, and so the tension they have worked up playing is gradually eased, and the children become absolutely relaxed. During these pre-meal rest periods, we always play music on the phonograph for them. We started this years ago, and now the children demand it. Besides it helps greatly in getting them to relax. We find that music plays a very important part in the lives of these children.

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 23.—The State Teachers Retirement board went on record Tuesday opposing unanimously, on behalf of 81,000 public school teachers in Pennsylvania, Sen. Robert F. Wagner's bill to extend social security in place of present pension systems to all public employees except those in federal service.

The action followed a meeting of the board in Harrisburg. The board directed Dr. H. H. Balsch, secretary, to go to Washington to oppose the measure which is now before the Senate's finance committee. Dr. Balsch said:

"The board in unanimous action expressed itself as unalterably opposed to the Wagner bill, feeling that its passage would be not only burdensome to the 81,000 public school employees of Pennsylvania, but would work an actual hardship on many of them."

Report Anthony Eden To Have Conference In Turkey

Will Discuss Balkan Crisis

British Secretary Has Completed Conferences With Leaders In Egypt

REPORT AXIS PLANS - BALKAN CONFERENCE

By GEORGE BALINT
International News Service Staff Correspondent

BUDAPEST, Oct. 23.—Anthony Eden, fresh from conferences with the British high command in embattled Egypt, was scheduled to arrive in Istanbul today to receive a comprehensive report on the crucial Balkan situation.

The British secretary of state for war was slated to receive a report from Sir Hugh Knatchbull-Hugessen, London's envoy to Turkey, even as the axis was reported preparing for a sweeping Balkan conference.

Nazi Cross Yugoslavia

In London, the Daily Express said this morning that an Athens newspaper in a Belgrade dispatch stated German troops and supplies are being granted free passage across Yugoslavia. Fear that the Monastir Gap route across Yugoslavia "may become a highway for the axis" was expressed in the dispatch.

The Balkan parley was considered a distinct likelihood as diplomats from eastern Europe continued to flock to the Italian capital.

Premier Ion Antonescu of Rumania was preparing to depart for Rome at the invitation of Premier Mussolini, and it also was announced that Michael Teleki, Hungarian minister of agriculture, would arrive there Saturday.

Balkan representatives in Rome, it was considered likely, would be warned to settle their difference lest the axis powers step in and effect a settlement for them.

In London, it was reported that Sir Reginald Hoare, British envoy to Belgrade, was still remaining at his post but ready to leave at a moment's notice.

Although more optimistic of neutral observers considered the Balkan situation "slightly improved," the population of the several countries were anxious over an apparent growing shortage of foodstuffs and commodities.

By-Laws Read At Leaders' Meeting

Girl Scout Leaders' Association
Gathers in First Christian Church Tues. Evening

At the Tuesday evening meeting of the Girl Scout Leaders' Association held in the First Christian church, new by-laws were read by the president, Mrs. Travis French. These laws were submitted by the by-laws committee, which includes Edith Cleaveland, Alice Roberts, Ruth Hildebrand, and Mildred Thompson.

Miss Helen MacLean, girl scout director, spoke to the group on girl scout week, which starts on Sunday, October 27. On Thursday, Friday and Saturday of next week, a girl scout display will be held in the public library, with all troops contributing to the display. Badge work in the ten fields of girl scouting will be accepted.

Mrs. Travis French invited all the troops to attend the international carnival, which is being presented by her troop, No. 7, in Trinity church, November 25.

The community badge was later discussed by Miss MacLean and the leaders. Tuesday, November 26, is the date for the next assembly.

Companies Refuse To Offer Bids On Two Mine Layers

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—The navy's shipbuilding program struck a snag today when private firms refused to offer bids for construction of two mine layers.

The navy had circularized east and west coast shipyards last August asking for estimates to construct two new mine layers, a category in which the navy is deficient at present.

When officials met to open bids today they received letters from three firms declaring they were not interested.

There was no official comment from the navy department available immediately.

The navy has two choices—first to allocate the construction to government shipyards which already are operating at near capacity, or to again ask the private shipbuilding industry to submit bids. At present the navy had eight old mine layers and one that is in the building stage at the Philadelphia navy yard.

The chief obstacle to human decency is man. When one wishes to be fair and kind, the other's meanness won't let him.

College Elevens To Risk Records

Unbeaten Michigan And Penn Will Clash, So Will Cornell And Ohio State

Fordham Meets St. Mary's, Columbia Will Tangle With Syracuse

By LAWTON CARVER
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—Some of the nation's greatest football machines reach the crossroads on the coming week-end.

Among the elevens which face opponents capable of upsetting forecasts are the score or so of absolute leaders—those standout teams which have come to the mid-way point of the campaign racing for sectional honors and, in some cases, the mythical national championship.

Penn vs Michigan

The following symposium of games involving the major leaders will give you a rough idea.

Pennsylvania and Frank Reagan with their perfect record in three games meet Michigan and Tommy Harmon with a clear slate in four starts. The tipoff on this game may be that 35 points have been scored against Penn and only 14 against Michigan.

Unbeaten Cornell meets twice beaten but potentially powerful Ohio State.

Unbeaten Fordham meets once beaten St. Mary's.

Georgetown, unbeaten for so long that you can scarcely remember the last time they were knocked over, tackles an improving New York university eleven.

Unbeaten Columbia, with a fine line and an erratic backfield, opposes the highly popular Syracuse outfit.

Notre Dame's greatest team during the Elmer Layden regime goes against a more or less inept Illinois team.

Minnesota, with an eye on the Big Ten title, takes on Iowa, which has lost only to Indiana.

Northwestern, which hopes to outlast Minnesota and Michigan in the Big Ten and which also has a perfect record squares off with Indiana.

Tennessee vs Florida

In the south Tennessee vs Florida, Mississippi vs Arkansas and Clemson vs South Carolina headline the southern program without any threat to the perfect records of Tennessee, Mississippi and Clemson.

Texas A. & M., one of the nations' mightiest, takes on Baylor, which has lost one game, but which bounded back last week by defeating Villanova, while Texas also among the teams with clean records, engages once beaten Rice. Southern Methodist, unbeaten but tied by Pitt, idles.

The Detroit Lions now have one offensive that has nine of the eleven men on the line. Potsy Clark is the coach.

In the far west Stanford will risk its perfect record against unbeaten but twice tied Southern California, while Washington, beaten only by

MUST WIN TO KEEP GOING UP

Frankie Moran Hopes To Prove Carter's Master Monday Night

Frankie Moran, local featherweight, is preparing for what may prove his most important fight since he laced a pair of boxing gloves onto his wrists and should Grover Carter of Aliquippa again register a K.O. over the New Castle fighter his career, which up to now has been quite spectacular, will have turned on the outcome of the fight.

There are many who do not believe that Carter can again register a knockout and there are others who believe that when next Monday night arrives Moran will wage such a vicious assault that the Carter boy will be knocked out.

Several months ago the two battled evenly until Moran leaned backward over the ropes. A couple of solid smashes on the jaw rendered him semi-conscious and because of the likelihood that he would be injured by another solid punch the sponge was thrown into the ring.

Frankie is training with Russell Baxter, Billy Reale and other New Castle boxers who will appear against opponents Monday night in what should prove one of the best amateur boxing shows yet seen in the Arana.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Frank Reagan of Penn is the second highest individual scorer in the collegiate football field. In fact, he is foot-ball conscious. No difference where he may be, he can be seen carrying a football and the only time he doesn't have one in his hands is when he is taking a shower or a bath. Apparently Reagan has read where, fighters, with weak hands, carry a small rubber ball which they keep squeezing. Johnny Cason, Mike Gibbons and others made the fashion grow in the fight clubs.

Martins Ferry and Belaire grid teams in action, Saturday night. Jack Trammel and Buddy Walker will fight at Baltimore next Monday night. Rosco Toles beat Jack recently.

Mixed Chorus To Sing At Football Game Here Friday
Group Of 120 Young Girls And Boys To Sing Patriotic Songs Between Halves

Principal Frank L. Orth of New Castle Senior high revealed today that during the intermission Friday night at the stadium that a mixed chorus of young high school girls and boys members of the Senior High chorus will sing several patriotic songs. There will be 120 in the chorus.

Directing the chorus will be Robert Duff, leader of the High school chorus. Special microphones will be installed on the field to carry the music over the entire East Side.

The football fans will be asked to join in the group singing and there will no doubt be a lot of fans who will want to exercise their tonsils. The New Castle High band of course will have a big part in putting the new grid feature over.

The visitors will have a powerful line, and one that charges fast.

By-Laws Read At Leaders' Meeting

Girl Scout Leaders' Association Gathers In First Christian Church Tues. Evening

At the Tuesday evening meeting of the Girl Scout Leaders' Association held in the First Christian church, new by-laws were read by the president, Mrs. Travis French. These laws were submitted by the by-laws committee, which includes Edith Cleveland, Alice Roberts, Ruth Hildebrand and Mildred Thompson.

Miss Helen MacLean, girl scout director, spoke to the group on girl scout week, which starts on Sunday, October 27. On Thursday, Friday and Saturday of next week, a girl scout display will be held in the public library, with all troops contributing to the display. Badge work in the ten fields of girl scouting will be accepted.

Mrs. Travis French invited all the troops to attend the international carnival, which is being presented by her troop, No. 7, in Trinity church, November 25.

The community badge was later discussed by Miss MacLean and the leaders. Tuesday, November 26, is the date for the next assembly.

Companies Refuse To Offer Bids On Two Mine Layers

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—The navy's shipbuilding program struck a snag today when private firms refused to offer bids for construction of two mine layers.

The navy had circled east and west coast shipyards last August asking for estimates to construct two new mine layers, a category in which the navy is deficient at present.

When officials met to open bids today they received letters from three firms declaring they were not interested.

There was no official comment from the navy department available immediately.

The navy has two choices—first to allocate the construction to government shipyards which already are operating at near capacity, or to again ask the private shipbuilding industry to submit bids. At present the navy had eight old mine layers and one that is in the building stage at the Philadelphia navy yard.

The chief obstacle to human decency is man. When one wishes to be fair and kind, the other's meanness won't let him.

College Elevens To Risk Records

Unbeaten Michigan And Penn Will Clash, So Will Cornell And Ohio State

Fordham Meets St. Mary's, Columbia Will Tangle With Syracuse

By LAWTON CARVER
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—Some of the nation's greatest football machines reach the crossroads on the coming week-end.

Among the elevens which face opponents capable of upsetting forecasts are the score or so of absolute leaders—those standout teams which have come to the mid-way point of the campaign racing for sectional honors and, in some cases, the mythical national championship.

Penn vs Michigan

The following symposium of games involving the major leaders will give you a rough idea.

Pennsylvania and Frank Reagan with their perfect record in three games meet Michigan and Tommy Harmon with a clear slate in four starts. The tipoff on this game may be that 35 points have been scored against Penn and only 14 against Michigan.

Unbeaten Cornell meets twice beaten but potentially powerful Ohio State.

Unbeaten Fordham meets once beaten St. Mary's.

Georgetown, unbeaten for so long that you can scarcely remember the last time they were knocked over, tackles an improving New York university eleven.

Unbeaten Columbia, with a fine line and an erratic backfield, opposes a hopeful Syracuse outfit.

Not Dame's greatest team during the Elmer Layden regime goes against a more or less inept Illinois team.

Minnesota, with an eye on the Big Ten title, takes on Iowa, which has lost only to Indiana.

Northwestern, which hopes to outlast Minnesota and Michigan in the Big Ten and which also has a perfect record, squares off with Indiana.

Tennessee vs Florida

Down in the south Tennessee vs Florida, Mississippi vs Arkansas and Clemson vs South Carolina headline the southern program without any threat to the perfect records of Tennessee, Mississippi and Clemson.

Texas A. & M., one of the nations' mightiest, takes on Baylor, which has lost one game, but which bounded back last week by defeating Villanova, while Texas, also among the teams with clean records, engages once beaten Rice. Southern Methodist, unbeaten but tied by Pitt, idles.

In the far west Stanford will risk its perfect record against unbeaten but twice tied Southern California, while Washington, beaten only by Minnesota, tangles with California, which has two wins and two defeats.

Reagan vs Harmon

For the clincher of the week-end, unbeaten and untied Boston college is seeing to it that it also is unthreatened by meeting St. Anselm.

Regardless of what may happen anywhere, there can scarcely be any developments to overshadow eventualities at Ann Arbor, when Reagan of Penn and Harmon of Michigan tangle up in what may be a scoring duel.

So far, in three games, Reagan has scored ten touchdowns and has kicked one point for a total of 61 against Harmon's 11 touchdowns, 10 points after and one field goal for 70 points in four games.

Local Teams Face Tough Grid Hombres

Several Classy Attractions Are On Tap In County This Week-End

County elevens go into action against a crop of tough grid hombres this week end.

One of the top clashes matches the beefy John Adams High club of Cleveland and New Castle High, Friday evening at 8 o'clock, at Taggart stadium. The Ohios copped the '39 high championship of Cleveland and reportedly boast another talented eleven.

Friday afternoon, on Shenango field, Union Township and Shenango Township meet head on in one of the important engagements of the season. Besides being one of the "it" games on the card, the outcome will have an important bearing on the County Class B championship.

In its first quest for the title, Union suffered a 20-0 setback at the hands of Bessemer. A triumph Friday day would give the Scotland Laners an outside chance of sharing the laurels.

MUST WIN TO KEEP GOING UP

Frankie Moran Hopes To Prove Carter's Master Monday Night

Frankie Moran, local featherweight, is preparing for what may prove his most important fight since he laced a pair of boxing gloves around his wrists and should Grover Carter of Aliquippa again register a K.O. over the New Castle fighter. It's his first quest for the title. Union suffered a 20-0 setback at the hands of Bessemer. A triumph Friday day would give the Scotland Laners an outside chance of sharing the laurels.

Bowl elevens are rounding into good mid-season form. The kick-off time is 2 o'clock.

Saturday games find Westminster, enteraining an ancient foe, Thiel, at New Wilmington; Bessemer goes to Youngstown for its perennial scrap with Scioto and Ellwood City performs at home against Aliquippa.

CHICAGO—Lew Fonseca, who played the position himself, says Joe Kuhel of the White Sox is the finest fielding first baseman he has seen in either major league in years.

The Detroit Lions now have one offensive that has nine of the eleven men on the line. Potsy Clark is the coach.

Frankie is training with Russell Baxter, Billy Reale and other New Castle boxers who will appear against opponents Monday night in what should prove one of the best amateur boxing shows yet seen in The Arana.

A Mexican mountain lion measuring more than seven feet was recently killed north of Bruni in Webb County, Tex., by a Mexican hunter who used only a 410-gauge shotgun, it is reported to the State Game Department by a warden.

CARL Snavely, engineer of the Cornell train which has won 11 straight battles, is telling all and sundry that his aggregation will be at full strength for the first time this season next Saturday. . . . Mickey Anderson, sidelined all season due to injuries, returns to Southern California's starting line-up this week-end.

Sports mixture:—Much of New Castle High's success this season can be traced to the trusty right foot of Al Bucci. The lanky wingman has been booting the ball high and far consistently. Bucci's aptitude in this important phase of the game has astounded onlookers. Consequently, the local boy is being tabbed as the ace kicker in the W. P. I. A. L. . .

In last Friday's game at Washington, the tall athlete electrified the stands by uncorking one of the best punts seen on the Washington field in many seasons. From beyond his 40, Bucci aimed one for the sidelines. The ball went out of bounds on the 1-foot mark. Several of Bucci's kicks this season have traveled more than 60 yards. One of his punts, recently at Taggart Stadium, measured 79 yards. . . .

In any one stopped the New York Yankees' march to fifth straight pennant, Johnny Babich holds that distinction. Babich won 5 out of 6 from the ex-champs, the only loss being a 1-0 setback. It was ironic that Babich was the one to thwart the march. The 31-year-old right-hander was Yankee property when he was turned over to the Athletics. . . .

George Archie, first-baseman, drafted by the Senators from Seattle, was voted the most valuable player of 1940 in the Pacific league. . . . Whizzer White, Detroit Lions' quarterback, has gained 147 yards in 83 attempts and is the leading ground-gainer in the National Pro League. He won All-American honors while playing for the University of Colorado in 1937. He won a scholarship at Oxford but returned to the U. S. when the European war broke out.

Beginning at 9 a. m. Saturday, Mercer county sportsmen will hold possibly the biggest Buckshot Brigade shoot yet held hereabouts. The shoot will be held at the new Western Reserve grounds one mile west of Greenville on the Sharon-Greenville road. . . . Anton Christoforidis of Cleveland, knocked out Jimmy Reeves of Cleveland in the second round at Cleveland last night. They are lightweights. Jimmy Bivins of Cleveland won a 10-round over Vincent Pimpinella, veteran middleweight in the same ring.

There'll be no wrestling Monday night in The Arena. Every bout will be between boxers. The "Rasslers" weren't available. . . . Tom Keady, once coach of the Massillon Tigers, more recently mentor at Lowell, Mass., high, is checking out of football after 43 years service. . . . Harry Jeffra, featherweight champion and Sixto Escobar, Puerto Rico, former bantamweight king, will fight in New York, November 25. Fifteen thousand are expected to witness Martins Ferry and Bellatrix leg teams in action, Saturday night. Jack Trammell and Buddy Walker will fight at Baltimore next Monday night. Rosco Toles beat Jack recently.

Another meeting is slated for next Tuesday night at which time all of the last year's teams must decide finally on their franchises.

Lawrence Indies To Meet Thursday

The Lawrence Indies baseball team, city league champions, and also County league champs, having defeated Ellwood City, will have their final meeting of the year Thursday night at Mickey's place at 7 o'clock. It was announced by Business Manager John Wilk today.

The following are to report at the meeting: Manager George "Hoss" Zidow, Joe Wilk, Mosley, Evenoski, Sovesky, Russu, Majocha, Savage, Rainey, Zurlina, A. Baker, Cenner, Presch, Gaydosik, Byak, Koszela, Genlock, Wiersko, John Wilk, and the trustees of the Indies organization, George Binder and William Hares.

EUGENE, Ore.—Tom Terry, big Oregon sophomore tackle, won the Berger Underdahl trophy as the state's outstanding junior skier in 1939.

MUSKEGON, Mich.—Bert Glinman, 64 years old, went to the quarter-finals of the Muskegon tennis singles tournament this year.

Jimmy McLarmin, the boxer is succeeding in golf and now is a six-stroke handicap player.

Severe blizzards in northeastern Montana killed many grouse in the summer of 1940.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Frank Reagan of Penn is the second highest individual scorer in the collegiate football field. In fact, he is foot-ball conscious. No difference where he may be, he can be seen carrying a football and the only time he doesn't have one in his hands is when he is taking a shower or a bath. Apparently Reagan has read where, apparently, with weak hands, carry a small rubber ball which they keep squeezing. Johnny Coulon, Mike Gibbons and others made the fashion grow in the fight game.

Former Philippine Teacher Is Now Student At Pitt

(Special To The News)
PITTSBURGH, Oct. 23.—If her former pupils in the public school of her native town, Oroguit, Philippine Islands, could see her now, they would wonder about Natalia Abuton, a freshman in the pre-education course at the University of Pittsburgh.

The petite, black-haired student was an English teacher in her home town school. She has been in the United States for four months and has not found it difficult to adjust herself to customs here.

However, Miss Abuton is an individualist—refusing to eat bread. "It was never served at my home in the Philippines, and I can't get used to it," she says. "I eat rice instead."

Miss Abuton points out that the Philippines are becoming more and more "occidentalized." Although there are 17 dialects spoken on the islands, English is the language taught in the schools. Students of the islands attend three different schools before qualifying for college—four years in primary school, three years in elementary school, and four years in high school. Natalia was graduated from high school in 1932.

Swimming is Miss Abuton's favorite sport. She is also interested in music, and has studied the piano for some time.

The gentle-mannered, eager-to-please little scholar does not intend to return to her home until she has completed her four-year course at the University.

Lake Huron, second largest of the five Great Lakes, contains about 3,000 islands.
